Hailie Nene Foundation Newsletter

Introduction

Hailie Nene Foundation is a privately family owned company with its main objective being to help those less privileged. Established in 2013 in Durban - KwaZulu-Natal Province of South Africa, it has recently relocated to eMalahleni (Witbank) - Mpumalanga Province of South Africa.

The main focus for the foundation is to concentrate mainly on individuals but also work with groups.

As a self-funded initiative, the foundation has yet to make a major impact in the broader community. Partners are welcome.

The company

Our partners may include those willing to donate and those seeking donations. We strive to be open to all communities but also involved with religious communities. Our principle is based on the notion that even though we cannot help everybody, we believe that the few individuals we help will one day realize the broader impact of giving. As a farmer would know, you may plant one seed of corn and get from it 100's.

Most Recent Projects

On the Mandela we, we were fortunate enough to be able to dedicate our 67 minutes in the form of 67 goodies parcels to make 67 "Future Leaders" happy. The part a community plays on a child's growth is what determines the future of that child, thus we strive to help wherever we can. It is our way of giving hope.

The goodies were donated to kids from MNS, Thandolwethu Day Care and New beginnings Day Care all in Klarinet, eMalahleni.

Current Project

We are on a continuous drive to collect as many sanitary towels as possible with the intention being to at least hand them over, especially during the coming month of August. A month dedicated to women.

We, therefore urge anyone who is willing, to support our call. In this day in life, there are still many girls that miss school because of lack of sanitary towels. Any help will greatly be appreciated, not only by us, but also the recipients of your kindness. You can contact us on the email below to participate or visit our website on www.hailienene.com for more details.
